DETAILED ACTION

1. This action is in response to applicant's amendment received on 8/05/03.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 33-35, 37, 39, 40 and 41 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Harrison et al. (4878407) in view of Katz et al. (3889333).

Harrison et al. disclose the invention substantially as claimed including a cutting die support cylinder 22, a cutting die 62 having a curved shape and curved inner surface, a plurality of holes (col. 6, line 27), a fixing means 90, a circumferential stop 50, an axial stop 68 and a centering guide 70. Harrison et al. do not show a bolt having a shank and a head with a larger area than an area of a cross-section of the shank, working means, a spring and a dynamic fluid cylinder. However, Katz et al. teach the use of a bolt 22 having a shank and a head 24 with a larger area than an area of a cross-section of the shank, working means (see Fig. 4), a spring 20a and a dynamic fluid cylinder 34a (pneumatic or hydraulic)(see col. 3, lines 16-18) for the purpose of having a fast exchange of the cutting blade. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified Harrison's fixing means by providing the bolt having the shank and the head with a larger area than an area of a cross-section of the shank, working means and the dynamic fluid cylinder as taught by Katz et al. in order to obtain a device to fast exchange the cutting die.

4. Claims 36 and 38 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Harrison et al. (4878407) in view of Katz et al. (3889333).

Harrison et al. disclose the invention substantially as claimed except for a quincunx form. However, the examiner takes Official Notice that the use of the quincunx form is old and well known in the art for the purpose of firmly holding two pieces. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified Harrison's fixing means by providing the quincunx form in order to obtain a better holding configuration for the die.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Sommer et al., Waizmann et al., Muller, Watson et al., Eriksson, Kirsch, Capdebosco, Rower are cited to show related device.

7. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

Art Unit: 3724

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
